Genworth Financial Wealth Management Names Cameron Miller As CFO

Richmond, VA (March 10, 2009) --Genworth Financial Wealth Management, a unit of Genworth Financial (NYSE: GNW), today announced the appointment of Cameron Miller as CFO. Miller joins Genworth Financial Wealth Management with extensive finance, administrative and operational background in the financial services industry. He reports to co-chairman Gurinder Ahluwalia.

"We are extremely pleased to have someone of Cameron's caliber and experience join our management team," said Ahluwalia. "As we continue to develop our business, Cameron's background in helping companies grow will be very beneficial. We look forward to working with him as we move forward with our plans."

Most recently, Miller was a principal with Los Angeles-based Lovell Minnick Partners LLC, a private equity firm that focuses on the financial services industry. His responsibilities included sourcing, structuring, negotiating and executing transactions in a variety of companies. He also worked with portfolio companies to help evaluate and improve their business strategies.

Earlier in his career, Miller served as interim chief administrative officer for Berkeley Capital Management LLC, where he worked on the firm's transition to independence as well as numerous other business initiatives. He began his financial services career at Putnam Lovell Securities in 1996 as an analyst in the investment banking group. Miller holds a BA in Economics from Pomona College and an MBA in Finance from The Wharton School of Business.
